The Way to Keep a City Clean.

Minneapolis is blazing a new trail. She has found out that no city that wants to be a clean city can neglect its garbage handling, and has gone to work to set a pace for the rest of us. The real beauty of it, too, is that she has solved the garbage problem-or more nearly solved surance, and was not brought under it than has anybody else, up to date. by a large city as a unit. When the garbage man comes round to collect his quota he finds a clean can. He is not faced with wet, dripping refuse and in cold weather he does not take a pick and batter the can in order to lift the frozen material. He merely loads the prepared garbage into a large steel box, somewhat resembling a bath tub, and which has one hundred feet capacity. He hauls this to a central transfer station, where the tanks are lifted off the wagon truck by means of an electric hoist and placed upon flat cars which convey them to the crematory or disposal plant. A train of several cars soon reaches the crematory just outside the city, where the boxes are lifted from the cars by an electric hoist and dumped directly into the as a candidate for Councilman from fire. The farmer and his wife were about to sit down to a cold supper when they saw some old friends driving towards the house.

The good wife was equal to the occasion—thanks to her New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

She had it lit in a moment, and her guests hardly were seated on the porch before a hearty hot meal was ready for the table— sausages and eggs and long rashers of streaky bacon, and rolls just crisped in the oven and fresh coffee—and the hostess herself as cool and neat as if she had not been near the kitchen.

She never could have managed it with an old-fashioned range. The New Perfection is the quickest, most convenient and best cooker on the market.

The village we visited is the home of most of the men who work at the press, and they had decorated for our coming. I forgot to mention that "the flame of the forest" is in bloom now, and every now and then a tree, with its mass of crimson blossoms would light up the green of the river-bank with a dash of color. The natives had used these flowers and palm leaves made into arches. for decorations, and you can imagine how pretty it looked. After the service, we had a feast of different kinds of cakes, made mostly of rice flour, cocoanut, and bananas; then we raised enough by subscription to build them a chapel and school-house, combined, and came home. It was a delightful afternoon, and Miss Buck and I have decided to go out phone 635. with our books some afternoon, and spend the afternoon on the river-I have had two parties since I last wrote you, and I hope they will be the last until school is out. Parties and teaching don't go well together, for me. We had a very pleasant evening at both Harris' and Collinses. Most elaborate refreshments at both places, but I didn't touch snything at H-s, and wish I hadn't at C-s. Out here, for refreshments, they have four or five course, and it isn't dinner, either. And to eat all that stuff at midnight just about finishes me. We had lots of music, which seemed good, for a change, though I don't think many people care much for it. Mr. Lyle, the British consul, who has just returned from furlough, has really a delightful tenor voice, which has been well trained. We got home at midnight last night, leaving immediately after refreshments were served, so I have been stupid all day. I had intended christening my new dress at these two parties, but it was entirely too cold. I wore flannel at both affairs. Nearly every one has had a severe cold during this cold weather, but I have been taking precautions, and so far, have escaped. Last week, about half our girls were coughing like their heads would come off. It made me sick, to see them going around, some with no sleeves at all in their waists, and half of them with their bare stomachs showing. where their waists and skirts failed to meet. And I don't suppose any

The Knock-out Blow

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but to the stomach we are utterly indifferent, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out.

Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol-pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Golden Medical Discovery." The dishonest dealer sometimes insists that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. To him its only a difference of profit. Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If not promptly supplied trade elsewhere.

Send 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only on a free copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, cloth-bound. Address Dr. Pierce as above. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and strengthen Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

EVIL OF SCANT MEASURES

Lowers Moral Tone of Trade, Increases Cost of Living and Adds to Hardships of Needy.

If "a false balance is abomination to the Lord," as we are told in the Proverbs, scant measures of every sort are equally abominable to mankind, lowering the moral tone of trade, increasing the cost of living and adding to the hardships of the needy. It is rather curious, therefore, that a fact so obvious, having occupied the attention of society for as long a period as the written record runs, should at the present day have no recognition in the laws or the ordinances of the state or city. Pennsylvania is without official standards of weights or measure except of the most casual sort, and Philadelphia has worried along for upward of a quarter of a century trusting solely to the honor of its tradesmen to give pound for pound and quart for quart, not to mention the scores of other measures of weight, volume and bulk by which commodities are exchanged for value in the markets. How public confidence has been misplaced is now shown in dramatic fashion by the bureau of municipal research, after a thorough investigation, by the actual purchase and test of a large variety of articles constituting the necessaries of average daily life.-Philadelphia

"FAVORITES" WOULDN'T FIGHT

General Jackson Greatly Disappointed When His Pugnacious Birds Refused to Do Battle.

Cock aghting had been oue of General Jackson's favorite home amusements, and he had become possessor of a breed of birds called Hermitage that was invincible in Tennessee. He had some of these pugnacious birds brought to Washington and one spring morning he rode out toward Bladensburg with a select party of friends to see "a main" fought between the Hermitage and the Annapolis cocks. The birds were not only trained to fight, but were equipped for their work. Their heads and necks were plucked, their tail feathers were closely trimmed and their natural spurs were cut off and replaced by "gaffs," or sharp blades of finely tempered steel.

General Jackson was confident that his favorites would again be victorious, but there was no fight, to the great disappointment of all present. The long confinement in coops on the stages appeared to have deprived the Hermitage birds of their wonted pluck and the Annapolis birds crowed in triumph.—Perley's Reminiscences.

Sure of a Raise.

An enterprising woman who rents several apartments in a new building and sublets them, furnished, room by room, has profited at the rate of several hundred dollars a year by woman's propensity for telling everything she knows. To each applicant for a room she named an exorbitant price to start with

"Now, understand, this is a concession to you alone, and must be regarded as strictly confidential. If you tell a soul in the house that I have made a reduction in your favor I shall have to charge the original price."

Within two weeks rents had gone

"Mrs. Smith tells me," said the astute landlady to each gossiping tenant, "that you told her you pay only $6 for your room, instead of $7." And as no one was in a position to plead not guilty the additional rental was ex-

What He Wanted.

He was a foreigner, and when he came down to breakfast and looked at the menu card and saw printed at the top, "All cereals 25 cents," it looked to him like a safe order. He beckoned to the waiter and pointing to the line said, "Bring me this."

The waiter brought him a proprietary cereal. The next morning the performance was repeated, only the waiter brought a different cereal, and all through the week until the list of cereals in the kitchen was exhausted, and the first cereal was again served the visitor.

"See here!" he exclaimed. "I have been ordering this all the work, and this is the first time since my first breakfast here that it has been served

Why is it that a girl whom a woman would describe either as "rather plain," or "nothing much to look at," may be in a man's eyes "pretty?" Just because a man judges by the general effect, and discounts suchto him-unimportant trifles as perfect attire. A sweet expression and a clear skin-both of which are within the reach of 99 girls out of 100-can carry off successfully the snubblest of snub noses; and a low, soit voice is, in man's estimation, one of the most infallible charms a woman can have.

Negro Leaps From a Fast Moving Train to Avoid Arrest.

Fellows. All of the meetings ad Skull Was Crushed When he Landed on a Pile of Ties.

Archie Bronaugh, alias, Hunt, a drunken negro who lived at Pembroke, jumped from the window of a train between Casky and Pembroke Wednesday night and was instantly killed. He was making a disturbance on the train and special officer Joe Burrus, of the L. & N. had arrested Bronaugh, but to escape arrest he leaped from a window while the train was going 40 strength, and when the strain is over, her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results. There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial. It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but dow while the train was going 40 miles an hour. KIND HEARTED MRS. BILLY

Has Experience in Subway in Which Element of Gratitude Was Lacking.

On one of the intermittent warm days of this winter a certain Mrs. Upper-Westend, who is as kind-hearted as she is handsome and welldressed, took a Subway train downtown to ca'l at her husband's office and go to luncheon with him.

"I've had another experience, Billy." she said to her husband upon reaching her destination. "There was a poorly dressed woman sitting next to me in the train, and when she got up to leave I saw that she had left her fur on the seat and I called to her. Now wouldn't you have thought she would have been grateful to me? Not a bit. That's all you get for telling people they've lost something. She gave me the queerest, most disagreeable look, and at first I thought she wouldn't come back. It made me cross, so I only waved my hand at the fur, and she snatched it-up and went off without even saying thank you.

"You needn't look so queer, Billy, I suppose you think I am meddling again, but you wouldn't have let her go off without her fur! It was such a pretty one, too. It is surprising what good things some poor people

"You shouldn't leave off your own fur even if it is a warm day," remarked Mr. Billy, dryly, and Mrs. Billy, throwing a hasty glance over her pretty self and her belongings, answered with a little shriek:

"Oh, I only threw it over my arm. You don't suppose that it was my new Christmas fur that that horrid woman went off with, Billy?" And that was just what had hap-

VAST LAKE OF SOLID SODA

Remarkable Discovery at Lake Magadi In East Africa-Mystery Is Cleared Up.

Wonderful as have been the reports of the vast soda deposit at Lake Magadi in East Africa, the tendency hitherto has been to deem the stories fantastic. Now, however, the mystery is cleared up by the report of an expedition which penetrated quite to the interior of Britain's remote possession as far, indeed, as 15 miles from the frontier of German East Africa. The ascertained facts, according to the Chemical News, are more surprising than the first reports. What, in the case of an ordinary lake, would be water consists at Magadi of a solid deposit of soda, with a hard surface looking like pink marble. During the wet season-which in this region is very short-the surface is covered with a few inches of water. Immediately after the cessation of the rains the whole of the surface becomes dry with the exception of a margin about 30 yards wide. Even during the wet season the amount of water on the surface in no way renders impra ticable the working of the deposit. For many years "Indians" from Nairobi, who use this soda for washing purposes and as snuff, have been removing it from the lake without regard to the season.-Current Literature.

Unnerved.

Every minute was precious, said the man who wanted his letters written in a hurry, yet he left a building that provided three public stenographers and walked four blocks up the street to another stonographer.

"She is no more efficient than those other girls," he said, "but nobody will get good work out of them today because two workmen were killed this morning in the building next door. All the men working in the new building have gone home for the day; that is a rule of the trades, and it might just about as well be made a rule in the neighboring offices, for the clerks who see and hear about the accident are never fit for much the rest of the day. There is no danger attached to their jobs, but the accident gives every stenographer and typewriter in the building a case of nerves."

Sleeping Potion.

A woman who suffered much from sleeplessness was relieved by the strong odor of mint breathed each

The remedy was one of those old wife cures that are often, effective, and was brought to the sleepless one's notice by a clever friend, who sent a bottle of strong essence of mint, a small sponge and daintily embroidered lawn bag to hold the saturated

The bag had a spray of mint leaves done in colors on one side, and on the other "Sweet Sleep." Through a casing at the top were drawn narrow green ribbons that could be kung over the head of the bed at night.

The odor of the mint proved soothing, and gradually the sleeping habit

Market for Condensed Milk. The United States consul feels sure hat there's a promising market in Malta for condensed milk. "Fresh cow's milk is scarce in Malta," he writes, "and most Maltese use goat's milk. There are about 10,000 milch goats in the islands. They are driven from house to house and milked in the presence of the buyer. Goats are tied at the doors of Maltese cafes and when milk is wanted for coffee the inimal is milked by the owner. As a large proportion of the goats have Mediterranean fever germs, the foreign residents refrain from using their milk and the British garrison is for-

Horrors of Journalism.

"Why is it that whenever there is an accident or a calamity of any kind there are twice as many people killed or injured and twice as much property destroyed, in the headlines of the Daily Howler, as you find in the other papers?" querulously asked the constant reader.

Secret Service Had the Goods

Several lawyers were discussing the United States secret service the other day in the marshal's office in the federal building. Much that they said was directed at a quiet but capable deputy marshal, who took it in silence until he got an opportunity to counter. The most persistent of his tormenters began to tell of a counterfeiting case when the severity of the government put a "good fellow" in jail. "Well, it was different up in my county," exclaimed the deputy marshal, breaking into the confab. "We had the evidence on the fellow all right," he continued. "He had made about a peck of silver dollars. The only difference between his product and that of Uncle Sam's was that the counterfeiter put a couple more grains of silver in his. He got away with it for months, and when we be gan to collect evidence we had bags full of the phony dollars. When the man was placed on trial the learned members of the bar were permitted to satisfy their curiosity by handling the counterfeits. But the man was acquitted." "How was that?" one of the lawyers wanted to know. "You see the lawyers walked off with the evidence. They didn't leave a single dollar," was the reply-Philadelphia

COUNTRY OF GIANT MELONS

Succulent Fruit Grows to Enormous Size in Certain Portions of Turkish Empire.

Both the water and musk melon of Diarbekir are the largest I have ever seen. Watermelons grow in Diarbekir each as large as a flour barrel, and muskmelons, but little smaller, only the muskmelon is rounder, like a

These melons are raised in the bed of the Tigris, as after the spring rains are over and the snows have melted from the mountains the river shrinks to comparative insignificance, and large tracts of the bottom land are thus exposed.

This land is plowed, and in each hill where the seeds are planted a quantity of pigeon manure is mixed in with the earth. There are people in Diarbekir engaged in breeding pigeons for no other purpose than to sell the manure to the melon growers.

As the melons are growing over the moist soil of what was a river for six months of the year, no irrigation is necessary and, though it seldom rains during the summer, the melon vines never dry up. The meat of these water and musk melons is, however, very coarse and not nearly as sweet as the melons of smaller varieties in other districts of this country .-- Consular Report.

Warning Before Command.

In bringing up my children I found that at night when they were tired they were spared many tears by being warned before I gave them a strict command. Instead of saying, "Now it is time to go to bed; put away your blocks at once," I would say, "It is nearly time to go to bed. Finish your house first, and then put away your blocks." In this way the children were fully prepared to go, and there was consequently no begging nor temptation for me to show my lack of firmness by being persuaded to allow them to build "just one more house."

Imagine a mother in the midst of an absorbing chapter being told by one in higher authority to put down her book at once and go to bed. Would it not save a frown of impatience to be told to finish the chapter first?-Harper's Bazar.

Teeth Brushed to Music.

An esteemed correspondent writing to the Cleveland Plain Dealer adds a testimonial to the efficacy of the brush-your-teeth-to-music idea. He says: "We are not Wagnerian at our home, having more regard for the tempo than for the chromatic blendings. When my two boys and my girl brush their teeth the accompaniment is that jigging air called 'The Turkey and the Straw.' One of the children whistles the air and the others brush. The child who whistles accompanies himself with two blocks of wood covered with sandpaper, and the wishy-swishy noise produced by this simple instrument sets the brushes going furiously. My only fear is that the kids will wear their teeth down to the nerve. Accept this as a modest boost for the cause of dental sanitation."

Electric Pencils.

A novelty that will appeal especially to the motorist and the physician is a pencil with an electric light in it. This illuminates a sheet of paper, and one can write with ease in the dark-

Illuminated walking sticks are also attracting favor, and a distinguished gentleman, commenting upon the ingenuity of those new inventions, remarked that the man who would jump instantly into fame and the hearts of his fellow-men would be the individual would could invent a hook and eye that carried a tiny electric light to guide the stumbling fingers of distressed husbands struggling with the intricacies of a wife's gown.

TESTING THE "YOUNG BUD"

Old Bachelor Strays Into Young Folks Party and Turns a Neat Compliment.

An old bachelor had somehow strayed into a young people's party, among so many handsome youths, to make the heart of a single maiden throb, he said to the nearest girl whose conversation had shown somewhat more good sense than he had expected:

"Look about the ballroom. Notice that the girls who have removed their gloves have well shaped arms. Andshem!-some have not removed them-

"But neither generalization fits me," answered the girl, "for, you see, I have one arm bare and one glovedwhat would you say about me?"

'Walk out and let me look at them," said the old bachelor, unfeelingly. The girl took a few steps out,

Brown Bread and Beans. The story of brown bread and baked beans is more interesting and important than local historians appear to think. Perhaps the most incisive record of Boston brown bread is the entry in the selectmen's records, January 7, 1746, or January 18, 1747 (n. s.). It calls brown bread that which has a good proportion of Indian meal. June 20, 1764, the selectmen ordered that the proportion of Indian meal in brown bread must not exceed oneis mentioned in the selectmen's order of October 29, 1722. Apparently the use of Indian meal as a substitute for wheat flour was due to poverty. Or is there any evidence to show such a use of Indian meal in the seven-

A New York dancing master, at a recent meeting of teachers of the poetry of motion, said that dancing as an amusement had lost much ground in the last few years, and that he saw no prospects of a revival. "True," he said. "there are dancing parties and balls every season, but they are not what they were once upon a time. They begin late and end early, and those who attend for the most part do not go to dance. The parents and the grandparents of our pupils used to go to balls where dancing began at 9 o'clock, and there was dancing until the 'supper march' was played. Supper over, there was dancing again until 'all hours.' The smoking and cardrooms are more popular now than the dance floor.

Differences in Alcohol.

More than two-thirds of the total production of German alcohol is obtained from potatoes, but only a comparatively small portion is sold in the form of bevedges, for the reason that other kinds of alcohol are better adapted to the manufacture of liquors and brandies.

The alcohols of wine, cherries and cane possess an agreeable aroma, whereas all alcohols produced from beets, grains, molasses and potatoes, must be rectified before they are ready for consumption, in order to free them of their unpleasant natural taste.

As to potatoes, the resultant alcohol possesses an oily flavor which would be particularly unpleasant if not eradicated by rectification.

Rest is a Beautifier.

Rest is one of the greatest of beautifiers. Rest, however, is not possible un-less complete relaxation is its compan-ion. Immediately the nerves and muscles are relieved of their tension the heart beats less nervously and a sense of calmness is experienced. Many women who long for a clear, fresh complexion, fewer wrinkles, bright eyes and an enviable cheerfulness would find these things within their grasp if they added an hour of two to their slumbers. Resting for five minutes or longer is ver treshing during the day.

Wear Clothing as Loose as Possible and Lie Flat on the Back With Feet Up.

Too much is preached about exercising, and too little about resting. Few women know the value of resting or how to get the most out of a free half-hour. It can do wonders toward "pulling up" a tired body and mind, but it must be thorough. While lying flat on the back with the feet up, and, most important of all-loose clothing, blood is being manufactured twice as rapidly as in any other position, and the process of "restoration" is going on in the body with the greatest possible speed. Boots should be removed, and loose slippers donned, and it is a great help if fresh stockings are put on. There is a tendency to feel chilly when a tired person first lies down, and if the body is called upon to make extra effort toward heating itself (which it very obligingly will do), the "resting" is not complete. Hence the necessity for throwing a covering over you, even if resting in a warm room. The words of a man, curiously enough, recur to me on this subject. Mr. Seymour Hicks, whose youthful appearance is one of his causes for fame, says he likes to devote the time between five and six o'clock to resting. When he can do that, no matter how tired he is, or how trying has been the day, he goes to his evening's work quite refreshed. "But," says this jolly actor, "it must be really rest. I take off my clothing, don pyjamas, pull down the blinds, get into bed, and imagine I am retiring for the night. A half-hour of rest under these conditions is worth more than half-a-day's less thorough siesta." Negligee garments are restful in themselves, and no woman who values Hester & Allensworth. her good looks will fail to form the habit of exchanging street clothes for dainty and attractive house gowns, when she is at home for the evening.

TOM WELDON WAS TOO MEAN

He Was Not the Kind of Poor Man Andrew Carnegle Advised Girls to Marry.

Andrew Carnegie recently advised some New York girls to marry poor men. "I would rather be born poor than a millionaire," he said, "and I have had experience of both estates." At a dinner Mr. Carnegie, elabora ting the above, said:

"I suppose these girls will all take my advice about marrying poor men. Poor men are so much easier to find than rich ones. But that is no hard-

"So many people think that a poor young couple, to get on, must practice the niggardly meanness of Tom Wei-

"Tom Weldon, on a journey from Altoona to Philadelphia, got into a game of cards with a young man. The young man lost steadily. Finally, as Philadelphia drew near, he was out a total of $61.

"The young man had a hard hunt to produce all this money. From one pocket he took two $20 bills, from another two fives, from his waistcoat a $10 goldpiece and a silver dollar, and from his trousers a half-dollar, a quarter, two dimes and four pennies. The where he would.

"'I'm awful sorry,' he said to Tom Weldon. 'I'm a cent short.'

"'Never mind, young man,' said Tom, genially. 'We won't stick at a cent. You can give your evening pa-

Making It Plain.

"If there is anything I am proud of," said Emmy Wehlen, now playing in Marriage a la Carte, "it is the descriptive power of my sex. Once, when I was playing in Pittsburg, my best chum went out to inspect some locomotive works, and here is how she described it when she got home. 'You pour,' she said, 'a lot of sand into a lot of boxes, and you throw old stove lids and things into a furnace, and then you empty the and everybody yells and swears. Then you pour it out, let it cool and pound it, and then you put in it a thing that bores holes in it. Then fou screw it together and paint it, and put steam in it, and it goes splendidly; and they take it to a drafting-room and make a blue print of it. But one thing I forgot-they have to make a boiler. One man gets inside and one gets outside, and they pound frightfully; and then they tie it to the other thing, and you ought to see it go!"-Young's Magazine.

A Lincolnism.

Norman Hapgood, the noted editor, quoted in an address on Lincoln, a Lincolnism of great value to parents.

"Lincoln," said Mr. Hapgood, "was once talking to a dissipated man of middle age who was lamenting over the fact that his seventeen-year-old son had just begun to indulge in dissipation

"'Well, there is just one way,' said Lincoln, 'to bring up a child in the way it should go, and that is to travel that way yourself."

Had the Appetite.

It was at a recent Friars' dinner that Augustus Thomas told the story of a newspaper man's laudable after tite. There had arisen a controversy over the ability of a man to tat two qualls a day for thirty consecutive days. A Park Row reporter was asked if he would undertake the task. "Say, Bill." he replied. "make it turkey."

While it is always pleasant for the home team to win, Hopkinswille does not begrudge the victory Clarksville won Thursday. The Volunteers deserved to win, because they out-played us and defeated the Moguls in the first two innings, seeming determined to wipe out the sting of Wednesday's defeat.

Lyman Johnson was in the box at the start and the game was lost before a dozen balls had been pitched. He was in bad form and was pounded out of the box in two innings, 4 scores being made in each inning. The Moguls rallied in the third and filled the bases. Nairn walked, Ireland struck out and Jones sent a two-bagger to right field. Huhn's three-bagger scored Nairn and Jones and Bosche walked. In a bone-headthe game was won by a score of 5 to 3 after that point, but the fatal 8 scores were too heavy a handicap and the Volunteers quit 11 to 5.

OPENING GAMES.

Under auspicious surroundings and favorable climatic condittons the Kitty League season opened here Wednesday afternoon, a parade preceding the game. A special train brought in 160 wild fans from Clarksville. Yon was in midseason form and he applied the whitewash for an opener. Score:
